Dear Sean Patrick Maloney,

I am formally challenging you to a televised debate ahead of the August Congressional primary.

While we differ on many issues, I hope we can agree that New Yorkers deserve representatives who are transparent, honest with their constituents, and willing to answer the hard questions.

As our country faces rising costs of living and healthcare, stagnant wages, and the dangerous effects of climate change, and as our right to bodily autonomy is taken away, accountable leadership is more important than ever. Serving as a representative is an honor, not an entitlement. New Yorkers in the 17th District deserve a Congressman who is accessible, open, and willing to defend their record.

Let's stand before NY-17 voters to compare our visions for the future of our state and our country. I propose that we engage in this debate prior to August 5, 2022, to give voters an opportunity to make an informed choice before early voting.

I ask that you reply to this challenge by July 22, 2022 so that we can both get this important event on our schedules.

Sincerely,

Alessandra Biaggi
